- Required audits of every State department

His Claim:

“Increased education funding for our schools and kids.”

Accuracy:

This is an example of an empty fact meant to lead to a false impression. The cost of education is impacted by inflation, so to keep our schools intact the education budget has to increase annually. The caucus led by Lance Pruitt voted for only a modest increase in education spending, far less than what was needed to keep school budgets intact, and that meant school districts were left to cut teaching positions.
